JANE REDFIELD SCHWARTZ, WITH MORGAN HELLER DESIGN/BUILD

This dramatic breakfast room and kitchen were small additions to a 1960s colonial home. The goal was to create a contemporary and airy space while seamlessly integrating the existing home. The details of the moldings and trim tie the kitchen to the eating area. Recessed paneling, a mobile-style chandelier, and the ceiling's tongue-and-groove beveled board create absolute beauty. Said judge Eve Robinson, "Very well done ... a clean traditional!"
