This double-island outdoor kitchen is the perfect workspace. The cooking area is symmetrical to the sink, and is surrounded by plenty of preparation counter space, while the integrated concrete sink and countertops are connected to and incorporate the bar seating. The outdoor kitchen includes a refrigerator, ice machine, and ample prep space. Perched above the backyard and completely covered by an expansive lanai roof structure, it can be utilized rain or shine, and has become the favorite spot for the homeowners and their family and friends to congregate.
